

Resources

The Stewards of Creation at St. Barnabas have curated a selection of readings for further study and learning opportunities about climate change. We hope this information can be useful to those interested in care of God's creation.

These books are available in the St. Barnabas library to peruse or take home and return:

Not Too Late: Changing the Climate Story from Despair to Possibility, Ed. Rebecca Solnit. (a series of essays)

The Climate Book, Ed. Greta Thunberg (a series of essays)

The Ministry for the Future, Kim Stanley Robinson (a sci fi novel, based on current strategies for healing the climate, interspersed with essays)

How to Avoid a Climate Disaster, Bill Gates

Making Love with the Land, Joshua Whitehead (essays on indigenous peoples' relation to the "land")

Braiding Sweetgrass, Robin Wall Kimmerer (braiding indigenous and scientific knowledge about "nature")

Sacred Nature, Restoring Our Bond with the Natural World, Karen Armstrong

Pastoral Song: A Farmer's Journey, James Rebanks

Online Resources:

For a few additional online information/links from Episcopal Church see:

Episcopal Church Creation Care

Episcopal Diocese of Olympia:

- Climate Justice Task Force

- Bishop's Committee for Environment
- "Climate Conversations" at St. Mark's Cathedral
- Carbon Offset Program

Episcopal Diocese of North Carolina: Disciple: Climate Change is a Biblical Issue

Anglican Theological Review: The Episcopal Church and Climate Change: The First Twenty-Five Years

Environmental and Energy Study Institute (forums & newsletters)